of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (Ph.D. awarded in 1963). Married for 50 years to B.J. Campbell and mother of Carol Campbell Davis and John William Campbell, she is the proud grandmother of four. Ms. Campbell taught briefly at Duns Scotus College in Williamsville, New York, then worked as a Clinical Psychologist at the UNC School of Medicine, but for 35 years has been involved in a longitudinal research project on the long-term effects of early childhood education on the later lives of children at risk for academic difficulties. She is now a Senior Scientist (retired but still working) at the Frank Porter Graham Child Development Institute at UNC-Chapel Hill. In her free time Ms. Campbell usually has a book in hand, but she also likes to cook, especially to make yeast bread, which she learned to do growing up on the W. L. Spoon farm.

Family Bibles

Our quest to locate family Bibles began in 2001 when Trudie McPherson gave a report at one of the Fogleman Reunions. Hans George and Catharina (Goetz) Fogleman appear in documents related to Shrman's (also known as Saint David's) Union Church in Hanover, York County, Pennsylvania in the mid 1750s. Per notes of Dr. Aaron Fogleman in "Notes on Foglemans and Related Families (Staley, Moretz, Fox/Fuchs, Loeffel/Spoon, Moser, and Long) in and around Alamance County, North Carolina, ca. 1750 to the Present" last update: June 18, 2001: Catharina Vogelmannin (Fogleman), widow, appears numerous times in the church records of Low's Lutheran Church in Guilford County, North Carolina. She took communion there on 6 May 1805, 6 Apr 1806, 7 June 1808, 21 May 1809, May 1811, 2 May 1813, and Jan 1815. She witnessed/sponsored the baptism of Henrich and Nelly Fogleman's child on Sep 3, 1807. This shows that the church and religion was important to our early ancestors and that brings us to the issue of family Bibles.

The early Bibles for our ancestors were in the German language and may or may not have contained family record pages. There is a very early Fogleman Bible in Pennsylvania but the family has not offered information about its content. There is a good possibility that the book belonged to a Fogleman family from North Carolina. Only time may reveal its content and location.

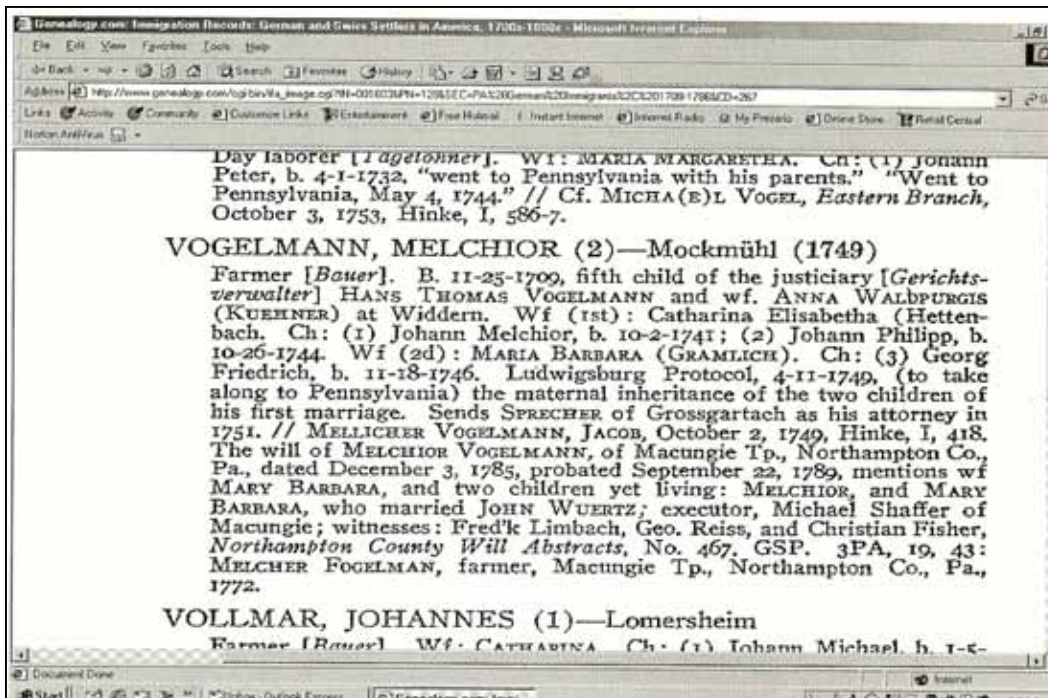

There is another way that Fogleman descendants might help in the venture. You may contact used book stores in your area and inquire whether or not their stock includes old German Bibles. You might also stop to check out the books in local "garage sales" or "flea markets" in your area. Who knows when, how, or if we will ever locate that one Bible connected with the Vogelmann or Fogelman family. There have been no reports or activity on family Bibles. It does not, however, deter our goal in locating these precious treasures! You may contact Judie Lewis at (407) 721-7263 (cell) or at jlewis0@earthlink.net if you have information about a family Bible.

Melchior Vogelmann Arrives at Philadelphia in 1749...

Details about Melchior Vogelmann has been found in “Immigration Records: German and Swiss Settlers in America, 1700s-1800s - PA German Immigrants, 1709-1786, Emigrants from Wuerttemberg: The Adolf Gerber Lists, Page 128 © MyFamily.com, Inc., October 13, 2004.” An interesting fact is executor, Michael Shaffer of Macungie. Another interesting fact is that the Michael (Vogelmann) Fogleman who was on the Ship Shirley with Hans George Fogleman was born in 1709 and it is believed that he is buried at Low’s Lutheran Church Cemetery, Guilford County, North Carolina.

FOGLEMANS IN LOUISIANA—

Foglemans in Louisiana may be connected with those from Virginia. The 1830 US Census for the Parish of Avoyelles (LA) shows a listing of the following: George Fogleman has two males under five, two males five and under 10, one male between 30 to 40 years old, and two females under five, one female between five and under 10, one female between 10 and 15, and one female between 30 to 40 years of age. And, the 1850 US Census for the same Parish shows:

519 519	John Fogleman	55 M	Farmer	7000	born in Virginia
	Sarah	51 F			born in Kentucky
	Emmazy	22 M
	Silas	15 M
	Isail	12 M
	Octavic	10 F
	George E.	8 M
	Sarah	76 F			born in North Carolina

The “Sarah Fogleman” on the 1850 Census indicates that she would have been born in 1774 yet her maiden name is unknown. George and Sarah Hoozers Fogleman were the parents of John Fogelman according to The Lord and Fogleman Families by Clyde W. Lord. The family settled in Louisiana by “1805.”

Fogleman Publication for the Descendants

Alamance Battleground holds celebration...

The Alamance Battleground site will be busy with historical reenactments during the weekend of the Fogleman Reunion. It will provide an opportunity for descendants to learn about a few of the methods that their ancestors used in cooking, writing, children's toys, and blacksmithing. Some of the Fogleman men were involved in Pyle's Defeat and possibly the Battle of Alamance. The author of a book about Pyle's Defeat, Dr. Carole Troxler, will speak about Sallie Walker Stockard. The presentation will begin approximately at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, May 16. Sallie, who wrote Alamance County's first history published in 1900, was the first female to graduate with a degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1898. Maybe a moment will avail itself for Dr. Troxler to answer questions about the Pyle's Defeat battle. Also, the John Allen log cabin is located at the Battleground. Letitia Fogleman, great-grand daughter of Hans George and Catharina (Goetz) Fogleman, married John Dixon Allen.
